INVESTMENT SNAPSHOT / OCTOBER 2026

A phased agricultural growth opportunity.

EL Giga Farms Limited | Ghana | Private investor and strategic-partner discussions

The investment thesis

An established poultry business with a plan to scale production selectively, deepen market access through commercial partners and develop complementary feed, processing, livestock and horticulture services. Each opportunity should be independently financed against verifiable demand and project economics.

Development priorities

Abutia poultry expansion	30,000-layer target; 10,000 broilers monthly. Housing, feed economics, biosecurity and operating cash flow are key gating criteria.
Hodzo livestock and poultry	More than 40,000 layers; 10,000 broilers monthly; proposed 1,000-goat project.
Processing and cold chain	Proposed 500-birds/hour poultry processing. The investment case must validate third-party throughput and utilisation.
Agricultural inputs	Feed manufacturing and carefully managed soil-nutrient services for internal and independent producers.
Horticulture and producer networks	Buyer-led pepper trials and controlled outgrower programme, with domestic and future export routes subject to buyer specifications and compliance.

Financing approach

Potential instruments include project equity, asset finance, equipment leasing, working-capital facilities and technical assistance. Capital needs, cash flow, return metrics and terms will be finalised after detailed financial models and due diligence.

Investment status

No current consolidated funding request or forecast return is published. Historical project estimates should not be treated as an approved group financing requirement. Prospective partners can request a scoped investment discussion through management.
